Family Day: Native American Rock Art and Autumn Leaf Printing

Saturday, November 14th, 10am-2pm

Make your own seasonal place mat and coaster with stamp making and collograph foil plate prints using natural materials such as autumn leaves and grasses! Museum staff and volunteers will host a variety of Native American arts and crafts activities such as rock art recording, while our partner organization Print Arts Northwest leads printing and stamping activities.

Cookies and juice will be plentiful courtesy of Beaverton Bakery.

"Stories of Migrant Worker Families in Washington County"

Wednesday, November 18th, 3:30-4:30pm

A fascinating storyteller, Sister Ina Marie Nosack will relate stories from her decades of work with Hispanic migrant worker camps in Oregon.

Sister Nosack's life of social work has focused on meeting basic needs such as food, clothing, and housing. Along the way she has been a part of many stories in Washington County. She will speak to the struggles that migrant families face- from immigration, to finding adequate housing and keeping families together.

When it comes to fantastic better and work be volunteers, no one has it than us! With our small staff smaller office, much of the we do for the museum would impossible without the generosity of our truly amazing volunteers.

This has never been truer than during our gala season this year! To all of you who helped us so selflessly throughout the gala, and to those of you who have stood with us year after year- thank you!

That's a Wrap! Our 2009 Gala Sets a Museum Record!

We are excited to announce that A Swank Affair: Lights, Camera, Action! set a new record, raising over $90,000 for museum programs, daily operations, and much needed building improvements!

In more than 50 years and 20 galas, we have never had an event as successful as this one, and we are so thankful for those who made it happen- our gala committee, long-time major donors, and our volunteers.
